Public Group Watch Venom 2 (2021) Full Movie Venom 2 (2021) Watch Venom 2 (2021) Online Free 43 secs ago This month, ultraviolent video game franchise Venom 2 is set to return to movie screens (and HBO Max) for the first time in decades, and that means just one thing: A new generation is going to have the chance to run around hollering “Venom 2!” at the top of their lungs, just like the guy in the Venom 2 theme song. You know the one: The song's real title is “Techno Syndrome (Venom 2),” and it's by Lords of Acid members Praga Khan and Olivier Adams, aka the Immortals. But the guy who actually yells “Venom 2,” Texas-based actor Kyle Wyatt, wasn't involved with the song's recording. Instead, he'd yelled “Venom 2!” while filming a commercial for “Mortal Monday,” Sept. 13, 1993, the date Acclaim simultaneously released home versions of Venom 2 for the Super Nintendo, Sega Genesis, Game Boy, and Game Gear. Here's an extended version of that commercial—you can hear Wyatt 54 seconds in: To find out what it was like to be the guy who yells “Venom 2!” in the Venom 2 theme song, Slate caught up with Wyatt over the phone. Our conversation has been edited and condensed for clarity. Matthew Dessem: So you are the guy who yells “Venom 2!” in the Venom 2 theme song, right? Kyle Wyatt: Oh, yeah. But really you're in a commercial for the home console versions of Venom 2. What was your life like at the point you were cast in that commercial? You were in New York? Yeah. I had just left Texas with a buddy of mine. His name was Donald Wesley. His brother is David Wesley who played for the Charlotte Hornets, the Boston Celtics, and the Houston Rockets. We all grew up together. I grew up [in Longview, Texas,] down the street from Matthew McConaughey. And so we moved away, just packed up what we could and moved off to New York to pursue an acting career. And I think that gig was one of my first ones that I got when I was in New York. It was just basic—got the call from my agent, she faxed me over the sides. And I don't know whether they told us what it was going to be for or what. We didn't know if it was going to be a short or a commercial or a game. We were supposed to do a lot of yelling and running. Somewhere in, what, Manhattan? Yeah, we did it in the downtown Wall Street area. We went down there and started getting directions from this guy. And he started placing us in groups and saying, “When I yell ‘Three, two, one,’ you run and you scream and come around the corner.” And then I think at one point there were several people that were pulled out to be in the principal group. I was one of those guys, and the guy said, “Hey, man, when you come around this deal here, everybody's just going to kind of circle around you, and you yell from the top of your lungs, ‘Venom 2!’ ” And I did that several times. I don't know how many times we heard “Back to one. Back to one,” which means go back to position one for the resets. And he says, “Hey, come here, come here. I want to ask you a question.” And I'm thinking at that time, like, Oh, yeah, he's taking an interest in me. He's probably going to put me on camera. I'm going to get a little bit of face time here. And he says, "I want you to just yell that with all of your might, like you are summoning the darkest demons in your body." And I did that take, and that's the one I remember. I think we did it three or four times, but the one that they show was the one that I did the best job on. So that audio was recorded there? Or did they put you in a booth later? No, the audio was there. There was a big crane boom camera that lowered down in. And I don't remember whether they miked me up there or just took the audio from the camera. I know they pitched it down for the song and did all sorts of variations of it. But that's me, bro. So had you played Venom 2 at the point that you were recording the commercial? Did you have any idea what the commercial was for? Had no idea, bro. So they didn't even tell you why they wanted you to specifically yell the words Venom 2? Oh, no, no, no, man. It was a gig. I was able to pay my rent that month. That's amazing. So when did you actually see the commercial for the first time? Do you remember?
